

Redundant Unethical Compliance Costs Eliminated

for India's largest fashion-led hypermarket chain

Client: One of India's leading fashion-led hypermarket with 400+ stores spread across India.

Problem Statement:

The client had to incur redundant costs over traditional methods of compliance audits by authorities using unethical practices.

Additionally, manual processes, delayed reports caused inaccuracies, delay, and high audit costs.

Solution:

With Simpliance's revolutionary AI & Machine Learning technology, the client was able to close all inspection notices issued by the government by automation provided by Simpliance for all registers and returns. Manual audit cost was eliminated as every data point was valid and accurate, and they were able to submit the data on time. With SEAL, the client was able to streamline the entire compliance process and save cost, increase speed, and quality.
